

This interaction diagram is used to show the flow of messages when a user selects to view a location and the available weather monitors like rainfall or temperature

